2 A nail stapler includes a magazine for containing nails and a gun for 3 shooting the nails from the magazine. The gun includes a shell, a 4 solenoid put in the shell, a mandrel put in the shell to be attracted from an 5 original position to a punching position by means of the solenoid, a 6 hammer secured to the mandrel and inserted through the solenoid, a 7 spring for moving the mandrel to the original position from the punching 8 position against the solenoid and a security device put in the shell for 9 slowing down the mandrel when the mandrel is moved to the original 10 position from the punching position by means of the spring.
